

- How if you're considering purchasing a home, substantial bargains await the patient shopper
- Why keeping cash reserves in a home safe is a prudent thing to do
- How and why to replace credit cards with an emergency cash fund

Each chapter closes with a key takeaway for investors, as well as expert answers to real questions from listeners of Goldseek.com Radio.

Money management, limiting losses, and trend identification have always served investors well. Today, they are more important than ever. Wealth Building Strategies in Energy, Metals, and Other Markets provides you with the tools and tips necessary to profit in today's global economy.

CHRIS WALTZEK is the host, executive producer, and writer of Goldseek.com Radio, a weekly 2-hour broadcast covering the financial industry and featuring guests like Steve Forbes, Ron Paul, and Jim Rogers. Waltzek also produces Goldseek.com's Spotlight Picks Newsletter. He attended KSU on a Presidential Scholarship, graduating with a dual MBA in Business Economics and Information Systems. He is currently a Business PhD candidate at NCU. He worked as an industry analyst at Jones, Day, Reavis, Pogue, one of the nation's largest law firms. Waltzek is a member of the International High IQ Society.

JACKET IMAGE: © JUPITER IMAGES

Subscribe to our free Finance and Investing eNewsletter at wiley.com/ewnewsletters

Visit wileyfinance.com

 WILEY
wiley.com

WEALTH BUILDING STRATEGIES IN ENERGY, METALS, AND OTHER MARKETS

ARE YOUR INVESTMENTS "GOOD AS GOLD"?

In Wealth Building Strategies in Energy, Metals, and Other Markets, Goldseek.com Radio's Chris Waltzek provides extensive historical, fundamental, and technical evidence supporting precious metals as the ideal investment class for years to come. In fact, for those investors searching for the "perfect investment," nothing outshines precious metals—specifically, gold—in protecting wealth. But, it's not the only way to both safeguard your investment and profit in today's topsy-turvy economy, because Waltzek also details:

- 1 Wealth building strategies in stocks and energy commodities
- 2 The housing crisis, and how to identify real bargains in real estate
- 3 The land mine-laden banking industry, and how to protect what you've earned

A sophisticated investor's guide to profiting in the new economy, Wealth Building Strategies in Energy, Metals, and Other Markets is a provocative and insightful examination of safe and profitable investment opportunities for every investor, regardless of experience or income.

WILEY

WALTZEK

WEALTH BUILDING STRATEGIES
IN ENERGY, METALS, AND OTHER MARKETS

WEALTH BUILDING STRATEGIES IN ENERGY, METALS, AND OTHER MARKETS

CHRIS WALTZEK
GOLDSEEK RADIO

Not too long ago "money in the bank" meant that something was not only a safe bet, but practically a sure thing, as well. That was then. Today, banks are failing in alarming numbers (according to the FDIC, more than 225 banks in almost 40 states since 2008). And Wall Street continues to be up big one day and down even bigger the next. If your money is in either a bank or the stock market, it's a gamble. And one that's anything but a safe bet, let alone a sure thing. So how does the sophisticated investor respond when questioned about where he's putting his money? If he's traded paper (stocks) for precious metals, he says, "I'm golden." Are you gambling with your money, or are you golden?

In Wealth Building Strategies in Energy, Metals, and Other Markets, Chris Waltzek—host of Goldseek.com Radio—provides you with the secrets to successfully investing in an economic environment where anything goes and no one seems to know why or where it will go next. You'll learn Waltzek's proprietary investing system, a proven system built around a portfolio rich in energy and precious metals. Topics include:

- Price behavior/trend investing
- Why precious metals—specifically, gold—are the ideal insurance plan for any portfolio, and the ideal investment class for years to come
- Why peak oil/soaring global demand make energy investments a must-have
- How identifying and conquering personal weaknesses can vastly enhance trading discipline and the performance of your portfolio